

This weekend, I joined hundreds of Central Texans to salute the approval of health insurance reform that real make a real difference in the lives of so many American families. With the President's signature today, health insurance reform has finally become the law of the land. Insurance companies will no longer be able to hide behind fine print exclusions to deny needed care. And finally, Americans can get needed health care without risking bankruptcy. To hear excerpts from my remarks, please click here .